TORONTO

Pear Tree Park

On May 12, 2012, Pear Tree Park (previously Pear Tree Parking Lot) was officially dedicated in a special celebration with donors, staff, and TBTC volunteers. The Toronto Club has created a commemorative area in the park to recognize donors that have contributed $10,000 or more to the BTC. Donor names appear on bronze plaques set into large boulders or on posts. All Toronto section donor plaques will now be displayed in this area rather than on the Trail itself. The May 12 celebration marked the completion of this multi-year project and recognized these generous donors.

The Park takes its name from the beautiful lone pear tree which separates the parking lot from the commemorative area. The land on which Pear Tree Park sits was originally purchased by the Bruce Trail Conservancy in 2005. It is now part of Speyside Resource Management Area, managed by Conservation Halton. The parking lot was financed by the Toronto Bruce Trail Club and completed in 2007. An interpretive sign has been installed sharing the Pear Tree story and showing it in the context of the entire Bruce Trail.

TBTC volunteers who contributed to the project are Paul Vanhanen, Peter Leeney, Todd Bardes, Ian Clunie, Vlad Bosnar, Don Sargent and Stan Gasner. Donors of time and/or material to the construction of the park are Dufferin Aggregates, Landscape Architect Brad Smith, and Nancy and Charles Tilt.

New 22nd Sideroad Parking Lot Opens

In June 2012 the Toronto Club opened a new parking lot for hikers on 22nd Sideroad, just west of 4th Line in Speyside, providing access to the extended Canada Goose Side Trail (See Trail Changes noted in Bruce Trail Magazine, Summer 2012). The lot, which provides parking for approximately 18 cars and a reserved space for bus parking, was financed by the Toronto Club on land owned by Dufferin Aggregates. Dufferin also donated the granular material. Thank you to volunteers Paul Vanhanen, Paul Brown, Don Sargent and Andrew Costley for their contributions to this project.

In celebration of its 50th anniversary in 2012, the Sydenham Bruce Trail Club has published the 2nd edition of its highly regarded “Looping Through Sydenham” guide. Now updated and expanded to include 25 enjoyable walks with maps, notes and narratives, it is a handy pocket-sized reference.

Each hike description includes key details such as trail length, estimated time of completion, degree of difficulty, access routes, and parking. Beyond that, it explores the human and natural history of the area, such as nineteenth century mills, and the flora, fauna, and fossils along the way.

All proceeds from the book will support the Bruce Trail Conservancy in its mission to secure in perpetuity a conservation corridor and public footpath along the Niagara Escarpment. The $20.00 guide is available at bookstores in the Owen Sound area and from Sydenham Board members. Copies can be ordered via Sydenham Bruce Trail Club, c/o Bruce Price, Treasurer, P.O.
